Q: CSS spacing between divs I'm having issues with a spacing issue between 3 divs. The first has an image, second has a series of text and the third one is just under the text. The text is floating left, right and top and it's working fine but there is a spacing between the first and last div. How would I eliminate this spacing? I have a set width for all of the divs so I'm not sure why there is a space in between the first and last div. HTML Text Text Text CSS .text { width: 50%; float: left; padding: 5px; margin: 8px; border: 1px solid black; } Fiddle with space between divs A: Just add position:relative to the parent div. Give the margin, padding and borders for the children div. .property { position:relative; width:50%; float:left; padding: 5px; margin: 8px; border: 1px solid black; } JsFiddle A: Add display:block to the properties divs. This will remove the spacing. Add padding to the images. .properties { width: 50%; float: left; padding: 5px; margin: 8px; border: 1px solid black; display: block; } .properties img { padding: 10px

Officials have arrested two people in connection with a deadly highway hit-and-run accident in which a 13-year-old girl was killed and her two cousins were injured early Monday morning, according to Kentucky State Police. Shortly before 5 a.m., Christopher Kennedy, 22, was driving on northbound U.S. 25E near South Second Street in South Laurel when he lost control of his vehicle and struck the side of a 2000 Ford pick-up truck, which had stopped in the northbound lanes to avoid a traffic hazard, according to State Police. Kennedy immediately fled the scene and was last seen heading north on Hopewell Road. A 13-year-old girl and two boys, one 12 and another 14, were inside the truck when Kennedy hit them. The 13-year-old girl, who is the daughter of the children's mother, was pronounced dead at the scene. The other two boys were taken to the hospital with non-life-threatening injuries. "As of right now we do not know what, if any, drugs, alcohol, or speed was a factor in this crash," Sgt. Stephen Howe said on the scene. Howe said the girls' mother had been in the backseat of the Ford truck with her daughters. "She [the mother] was still not in any condition to be interviewed," he said. Kennedy was taken into custody Thursday morning after he was found hiding in a shed at a home on West Clyde Road near South Laurel. He is charged with aggravated vehicular homicide, fleeing and attempting to elude, driving under the influence and no proof of insurance, according to state police. Harcourt County Commonwealth's Attorney Kevin Pope told WSAZ the driver's license and vehicle registration were found in the car. Lee County Sheriff's Office deputies said the children all lived in the same home. Howe said they have been working with the girls' mother to get them transferred to a family member. Kennedy is being held at the Harcourt County Detention Center on a $50,000 bond. The crash remains under investigation.Oculomotor apraxia, aphasia and implicit knowledge of object identity in damage to the left inferior frontal gyrus and the opercular part of the inferior frontal gyrus.
