Version: 1.0.0 Developer: B10ckDave Studio - B10ckDave studio Created: 14.12.2021 Entered Content string: Bek3d Enter your message to developer: Success! Your message has been send to developer! Don't have free mobile to run game on? Don't worry! B10ckDave Studio has created various version of the game, which you can play by your pc or your browser! Unfortunately I havent have this version so, sorry guys. But there should be some new version in the nearest future, so stay tuned! Game is free for everyone to play, you just need to have internet connection. Gameplay Video: I decided to make this game in real-time, therefore it should always be updated. Since this game I decided to watch what to make next and thats why I developed also lots of other small stuff for my other games. For me, the biggest challenge is to make something fun. I tried to make a fun game, but with all this non-sense enemies and objects, the game loses its fun, so I decided to give up, but this is the hardest. Good luck in being Krek Da Frog What's next for Krek Da Frog? Since you have supported my game, I have decided to make more and more achievements with future games. In the nearest future I have plans to make a new game, called One Piece, which will be similar game than Krek Da Frog in which player must be dressed into Luffy and fight all other opponents. With One Piece I will try to use a voice-over in English. I think that not many people know about game Yume Nikki, so I hope to find some like in One Piece. Will Krek Da Frog be free forever? Well, it will be free forever, but there will be not too many updates. It will mostly be a bugfixing, but also for some other future achievements. The future By making the game Krek Da Frog I got quite some experience. In the nearest future I would like to have more achievements in game.Q: Line-of-sight calculation

Welcome to the Early Access Game "BluBoy: The Journey Begins" by MAGPIES Games. On April 18th the game will fully released. Download BluBoy and start playing now as you travel with the heart beat of Bluboy. It's a VR Version of the game and it's still very early. But it's going to be full version in 6 month. The best part of the game is the Graphics and environment. Yeah, it has not been polished. I have selected the best setting for the game in the vr mode and the game runs really smooth with some problems in some areas. Like other VR games this game require a VR Headset, a Space -Time. The game also require some stamina as it's a very fast paced game. Have fun my Friends as we roll out BluBoy : The Journey Begins. Join us on this adventure and travel with Bluboy as we fight for our Freedom.You will be Bluboy, the Main character of the game.Your grandpa got kidnapped on the way of his journey. You know he must be hiding on the outskirts of your hometown, so you decided to go and look for him.You start your adventure as you enter your small town. A good place to hide, no one will come and look for you, or they will think you are crazy and you will end up in front of a mental hospital.The story is you are going to solve the puzzles and clear your way to find your grandpa. The enemies will be Robots and tricky traps and enemies. Enjoy the scenery and look for clues. The game has some interesting places, cities, cities, as you can see. Its going to be a point in time and space.Explore the game and have a good time playing! If you like the game please comment or support the game and just be generous and kind. UPDATE 1 Game Bugs Fixed : 1. after saving the game the game loses some of the objects and disappears. 2. If you stop the game for sometime and start from the start, the task is completed UPDATE 2 BLUBY : There are many places where you find Bluboy's worn clothes. They

What's new:

Engine by Humfrey, 2013-08-15 09:38:55 I wanted to make a game, and with this niche one I thought I could make something that had a few people interested. It will be more game, and less mod. It will be based upon the Infinity Engine games, Covert Operations and Voyager. A brief about me. I have been interested in video games for a long time, starting with the original Starcraft released in 1994. Back in those days I would use the UT2K/UT2003 demos to create levels for my games and would often waste away some time in a deathmatch of course. The technology changed over the years and the large CDROM from which we had limited programs to access created more practical solutions like splintering, decryption and emulation. I picked up Chrono Cross and Tales of the Abyss to play but I was really keen to get into a good RPG at the time. My love for LARPing and the lure of the shiny Inti Creates games pushed me towards Monster Regiment. I have been a staunch advocate for the Inti Creates games, I still love Supermarket Shriek and Resident Evil 4 (spelling intentional I think).

The PDA - Bill, 2014-04-09 16:48 PSXL ran a video pitch contest based upon using POV-Ray/MAX/p4est as the rendering engine for a shooter-ish game. Even I have a Youtube account for my rather crappy web game WizardHeart. I guess the thinking was that I could personally help with the game since I'm a tech geek and since the other contest winner was late to give the project source. I was probably more interested in what others could come up with in the way of interesting gameplay. I got a few submissions based upon idea in question #1. I took a closer look and decided not to base it on the games mentioned in question #3. I come from a background in the abovementioned RPGs but this is pretty different and I saw no real pattern or commonality except the combo system. I came up with a more organic idea for gameplay and story. There will be a window on the screen with blue flashing lines from which you must turn away if you wish to survive. The player will be an android living alone on a planet. The surrounding star systems will be enemy territories controlled by one of several factions. Each faction has something unique it can do to wipe out an
