Download SuperPIM 7.5.0.81 - the most complete personal information manager. SuperPIM is a comprehensive personal information manager that comes in handy when you want to add and manage multiple contacts, write memorable thoughts or ideas, send messages to your clients, and store important information. Multi-functional life manager It's wrapped in a well-structured interface with drop-down tabs, namely "Contacts", "Senders", "Notes", "Calendar" and "Information", along with a rich toolbar. Most of the functions are disabled when accessing a category. Add new contacts to the address book You have the choice to make a new database or use the default one the app comes with. Contacts can be organized into separate folders, like family, friends or co-workers. The contact editor comes with fields such as name, nickname, gender, birthday, tree icon, horoscope sign, hobby, phone numbers, addresses, webpage and company. Plus, you can load multiple photos for a specific contact. Configure the sender's accounts The "Senders" tab lets you send or receive messages. You first have to open or create at least one sender account to deliver messages. Then, you can set up an SMS server or remote account. It's possible to compose and structure your notes in distinct categories and set passwords for each directory or file. Customize the drafts' content A basic word editor is offered, which comes bundled with the standard formatting elements, like font types, colors, bullet lists and paragraph alignment. Plus, you can use emoticons. The calendar displays information about the solar and lunar phases. However, you can't schedule appointments through it. Export your work to TXT or CSV documents The last tab comes with useful data, such as metrology, post/area codes, countries and capitals, Internet domains and currency units. For each group, you have the option to add new information that can later help you with your work. Last but not least, you can export the data to TXT, RTF or CSV files. SuperPIM 7.5.0.81 Description: This version adds a lot of features including import/export of Contacts, Notes, and Tasks. These speakers will include alumni, staff, and our incoming Head of Business, Daniel Ruta, who received his Bachelor of Arts from the college in 2009. The present invention relates to a method of transferring articles between at least two storage compartments in a semiconductor manufacturing apparatus. In semiconductor manufacturing, substrates (Wafers) are used as bases for the formation of integrated circuits. Accurate alignment of substrates is desirable. For example, there have been known devices in which the planes of substrates are aligned before and/or after the formation of integrated circuits on substrates. Semiconductor processing apparatuses in which two or more storage compartments are arranged in a semiconductor manufacturing apparatus such as that described above are known. In the semiconductor manufacturing apparatus, substrates are processed in each of the storage compartments. The substrates are aligned or transferred between the storage compartments (for example, Japanese Unexamined Patent Application Publication No. 2004-211778).
