Today's film isn't about #ProjectPleasantville. It is a real life story. The story of "A Date with the President". Last week I had the chance to meet with the Director of the Sundance Film Festival, Robert Redford. Mr. Redford was only too happy to chat with me during the Q&A that followed the screening of his new film; The Wizard of Lies. In 2004, Mr. Redford was the Democratic candidate for president. I was not too impressed, but we talked about it anyways. That is what happened on this day. I share it with you in this post. Enjoy. I am a fan of the recently released movie "The Wizard of Lies." The movie is based on the book by Jim Robinson, but also goes beyond it. The

Payday 2 is the ultimate team-based heist game. Prepare to pull off the biggest score of your career as you and a team of criminals rob banks, casinos, and stores around the country. As you and your crew pull off insane heists, you'll have to watch your back as the FBI, the SEC, and all kinds of other agencies are hunting you down. You'll have the power to take hostages, choose your weapons, and perform flourishes to dazzle your friends as you escape from the scene. Exclusive Content How would your life be different if you could just walk into a store and walk out with what you want. This is the Payday of the imagination. Everything is possible - with the introduction of the new and improved Shopping Cart. This can be used to buy, sell, and trade anything you have the money for. You can even use it to build your own personal hell on Earth - this is a fun sandbox and not intended for sane people. Be careful what you wish for. Gun Ops mission After a heavy gambling session goes wrong, ex-cop Jumper uncovers a plot that would affect everyone involved. The small town of Citrus Cove is about to get a visit from the ATF and the local FBI. They are going to make sure the casino, the gaming operation, the mayor, the pornographer, and everyone who owns a gun falls under a Federal investigation. Jumper has the chance to make it all go away if he can only get some extra time and help. Only he has to play by a different set of rules. Deadly Bot After returning from a successful mission, you are suddenly caught in the middle of a silent war between two rival crime organizations. What they don't know is that it's you who's been at the center of the conflict. How much have you been involved with the two rival criminal organizations in the Atlantic States? The investigation will send you on an extensive, globe-trotting journey to answer these questions. Code of Silence Put your skills to the test in the new Sniper Challenge, as you learn to shoot first and ask questions later. In Code of Silence you will use your Sniper Rifle to silently take out one to three targets on a tactical sniper mission. Use the range finder to locate your target, and the scope to bring them down. Contracts Acquire "contracts" from the mayor for a small fee.

forum Send this page to someone via email TORONTO – The Grey Cup game at the Rogers Centre on Sunday is one of those traditions that bring a smile to Canada’s face. But for this year’s matchup between the Toronto Argonauts and Calgary Stampeders, there was more. It’s the first Grey Cup game to be played at one of the most recognized Pride festivals in the country, in Toronto. The Downtown Pride Parade was held in front of the stadium on Queen Street West this morning. Story continues below advertisement You could also see Pride flags in the crowd on Sunday. “We’ve been working really hard and the support we’ve gotten has been amazing,” said Terrance Dodge, one of the captains on the Argonauts team. Canada’s rainbow flag and a Pride flag hang together at the halftime of the Grey Cup game on Sunday in Toronto. Jordan Bassell/Global News The Argonauts and Stampeders have worked together in the past to support causes like HIV and AIDS. “I’m pretty excited about the game, but most of all I’m excited about the Pride community,” said Dodge. In a corner of the stands was a table with five boxes of T-shirts for the team captains. The shirt says “Pride Brigade.” The first two boxes were put aside for the winners of the Anthem Writing Contest. “The winners are in the stands now,” Dodge said. Story continues below advertisement But the shirts aren’t for the big game. There was also a table with dozens of pants from one of Toronto’s most popular clothing shops. “It’s in memory of a

Smokey: Hello there! I have a question about a part you referred to as a part called "sanator". You said that it is for keeping parts together when assembling a gun or rifle in normal stripping. What's what you mean by a "Cart of Rarities". Is this a cart of parts you carry or a room full of parts you have set out? Anyhow sorry for the interruption this is my first post here and some of the terminology thrown out still seems foreign to me so if you can, please explain more in detail!

Bowhunter: The cart would be a collection of parts that I would take to a show to document and show. I would take several rifle parts at once and maybe pistol parts too. The strip of wood would have brass slugs, gun parts, parts that were no longer usable, and the other cart would have parts that were just a "hunch".

Sanator: A Cart of Rarities IMO I think your cart is probably covered by what they call a "collections" account. In B.S.C.V. they call it a PI account, and in S&H they call it a RATE account.

Smokey wrote: Sanator: A Cart of Rarities

Bowhunter: Ditto BLU101LTHR: I have referred to the same thing as a cart of gun parts, a cart of gun parts and a cart of guns. The latter being a generic term.

Sanator: A Cart of Rarities

Bowhunter: Yeah, but the condition of the collections differs from case to case. What you want is to differentiate in your instruction. Let me give you an example. A person who has stripped and classified in the criminal-like condition strips is going to send you the last of that barrel-spring in the condition it was sent in. The leg goes in two to three days, if that. You want to see her stripped in the normal condition and sent that pistol in a normal condition. If it were sent in

This edition is the blueprint for the campaign, where players will discover a new perspective on the Korean War from an underdog perspective. Freedom of Fire gives players the opportunity to choose from two battlegrounds: Inchon, an epic map where players will must fight their way through a massive urban and industrial area, or the maelstrom of city warfare in Busan. Players will be able to operate an arsenal of new vehicles, while mastering an extensive arsenal of brand-new weapons. The campaign will feature four new vehicles and three new weapons. Key Features: 1. New Tank: Inchon differs from other modes in that it is the first game in the game to feature a brand-new tank. The Tiger Tank 59 is an alternative to the previously featured traditional Tiger I tank, featuring a new style, vision, new color scheme and a new vertical anti-aircraft gun with a new aiming system. 2. Single and Multiplayer: The campaign mode includes a single player campaign, which covers the first operation of the Battle of Inchon. There is also a cooperative multiplayer mode available for up to 4 players. 3. New Weapons: Freedom of Fire includes three new weapons, all of which can be equipped on the new tank, the Tiger Tank 59. The Tank 61 will get a medium, and semi-heavy anti-aircraft gun, the Tank 64 will get a long-range anti-tank missile and a short range anti-aircraft gun, and the tank will also get a machine gun. 4. New Vehicles: Players will get a chance to drive four new vehicles and a new air support vehicle, which was discovered in the operation on the boat. The Blitzkrieg or "Lightning Blitzkrieg" was a tank from the German Wehrmacht that was modified to extend its legs for an amphibious assault. The air support vehicle can either be a bomber or an observation plane. REVIEW: "Tiger Tank 59" is very good game if you were a person who love the battle game. If you don't like battle game this is the best game to go for. This game have really good art design, sound design and gameplay. I recommend this game to everyone. For those who have a computer that able to run this game. If you want buy it you can try it first to see if you want to buy or not. "Tiger Tank 59" is a game from Future World. How can you like this game?
